Disaster Assistance Available for Small Businesses

Sacramento, CA - Small, non-farm businesses in seven Oregon counties, and two Washington counties may now apply for low interest disaster loans from the U. S. Small Business Administration (SBA). These loans offset economic losses because of reduced revenues to farmers and ranchers caused by adverse weather conditions, announced Alfred E. Judd, Director of SBA's Disaster Field Operations Center - West.

Small businesses in the following primary and neighboring counties may apply for economic losses that are attributable to the following incident dates and adverse weather conditions:

Small businesses in the Oregon counties of Clackamas, Hood River, Multnomah and Wasco, and the neighboring Washington counties of Klickitat and Skamania, are eligible to apply for these loans due to the excessive rain from June 6 through June 28, 2005 in Hood River County, Oregon.

Small businesses in the Oregon counties of Gilliam, Sherman and Wasco, and the neighboring Washington county of Klickitat are eligible to apply due to the drought beginning January 1, 2005 in Sherman County, Oregon.

Small businesses may qualify for Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDLs) of up to $1.5 million to help meet financial obligations and operating expenses which could have been met had the disaster not occurred. "Eligibility for these loans is based on the financial impact of the disaster only and not on any actual property damage. These loans have an interest rate of 4%, a maximum term of 30 years, and are restricted to small businesses without the financial ability to offset the adverse impact without hardship," Judd said.

By law, SBA makes EIDLs available when the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture designates an agricultural disaster. Secretary Mike Johanns declared these disasters at the request of Governor Ted Kulongoski.

Businesses primarily engaged in farming or ranching are ineligible for SBA disaster assistance. Agricultural enterprises should contact the Farm Services Agency (FSA) about the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) assistance made available by the Secretary's declaration. However, in drought disasters nurseries are eligible for SBA disaster assistance.
